Caught on Camera in the Wombat State Forest

Join NatureWatch and Wombat Forestcare to kick off this season's wildlife monitoring, learn how to use motion-sensing cameras and help get the cameras out to our first sites.

We'll meet in the Wombat State Forest near Trentham, full details will be provided on registration. The activity will include some driving on dirt tracks (car-pooling encouraged).

This activity will be fully field-based and focused on learning how to use the cameras and setting up the first monitoring sites. Normally we have a report back on the previous year's results to kick off the season, but this year we're holding off until our five-year report is ready which will be later this year. We're excited to see what our data reveal!

Morning tea is provided and registration required, email NatureWatch Coordinator Christine at christinec@vnpa.org.au or phone 9341 6510.

The activity runs 9.30am-12.30pm.
